CAMPBELL & M'DERMOT,

FRIDAY MORNING, OCT. 6. UNION TICKET.

State Senate.

GEN. L. H. BUVAL

House of Delegates COL. WH. B. CURTIS.

JOSEPH BELL.

THE contest over in Belmont county at the Ohio election, next Tuesday, promises to be very warm and exciting. Belmont is debatable political ground, and has been held by a narrow margin only for the Union side during the last two years. We hope for something de-cisive in the way of a Union triumph worth, two of the democratic candidates, are carrying a very heavy load.

HON, R. L. BERKSHIRE, of the Court Appeals, was in the city yesterday, informs us that the men of the nountains will give a good account of themselves on the day of election. It mains only for us of the Pannandle to do our duty as well. We think we promise our mountain country ads that here in Wheeling and Ohio county, we will not be remiss, Will the friends of the Union cause to it that we are not mistaken?

WE are sorry to hear of the death of Mr. Newton, editor of the Kanawha Republican—one of the oldest, if not the oldest newspaper publisher, in the State. Mr. Newton was a native of Vermont, but came to Virginia many years ago, and was at one time, we be-lieve, the editor of the old Gazette here. satisfactor, disposition, as fits them not disposition, as fits th highly regarded by the people among whom he lived, and was intimately identified with the old whig population of Charleston, such as Geo. W. Sum-

His paper belonged to the oldVirginia school of weeklies, and, as editor, he clung to the traditions and notions of the past too much perhaps for the progressive time in which we live. He was content to be moved along rather than to move others, and all through this war, while a Union man, and sincerely o, as we believe, has felt himself called on rather to hold back than to advance with the irreversible issues which under Providence were working out the safe-ty of the Nation. We have no doubt, however, that he did a large measure of good in his day, and certainly he has gone to his rest with a fair name and the sincere regrets of a wide circle of the sincere regrets of a wide circle acquaintances and friends.

Money Matters. The gold market is excited and the highest price obtained for several months was reached yesterday. The closing quotations were 46½ The Wall street men are calculating upon diminished exports of cotton, breadstuffs, naval stores, &c., and upon the heavy exportation of specie to pay the interest on our bonds held in Eu-rope, and for imported goods. We received by last night's mails the monthly circular of Birch, Murray &

Co., of New York, in which they speak

Co., of New York, in which they speak thus of the gold market.

"The gold market has been unusually firm during the month, at a high rate, and would have been much higher but for frequent and heavy sales by the Treasury. The future is extremely doubtful, and can but so continue in the face of an active and ra aer angry controversy as to whether National Bank currency shall be redeemed in paper. To talk of gold values and payments under such circumstances is worse than idle."

We alluded in yesterday's INTELLA-MENCER to "labor and prices" and their mutual relations to inflation past and prospective. There is a strenuous effor the United States Department of Agto excite the producing markets in all departments by very short-sighted people, who expect to resp a temporary advantage. Many of them

We have received a copy of the above named work. We have heretofore given extracts from its advance sheets while in press, and have made our readers acquainted with the general called, before the clouds lower around the horizon and the rains and floods descend. Their policy is a miserably selfish and narrow one. All inflation entails wide spread loss, not so much upon those who get the benefits of it, as upon those who depend upon steadiness of employment at remunerative prices for a living. Whenever any product is put up above a price at which it pays a good living profit to all concerned in patronized. bringing it into market, an immibringing it into market, an imminent danger sets in—the danger of reaction— of break down, with all their subsequent stagnations and discouragements— Hence if men, employers and employ-ed, were wise in the light of their simple year treasury notes at 3 per cent pre-mium, $103 in certificates and notes be-ing an equivalent for $100 of the pro-posed loan. Interest will be allowed on certificates of indabtedness and one and posed loan. Interest will be allowed on two year treasury notes, which have already matured, or which shall mature prior to November I, up to the date of maturity, and when maturing after that date interest will be allowed to that day; upon the compound interest notes the interest will be computed to November I upon the amount of principal and interest compounded on the back of said notes from the period seat prior to that daie. When holders of the certificates and interest compounded on the back of said notes from the period seat prior to that daie. When holders of the certificates and interest and treasury notes have fractional parts of $100 of the bonds, such fractional divisions and associations brought deserved reproach and electraction upon himself and his party.

balance will be paid them in currency. The secretary reserves the right of with-drawing this proposal any time before November 1, if he should wish to do so. government and people, and the loan will be readily and quickly taken.

THE repudiation of the confederate debt by the State of Alabama, must be regarded as one of the most important steps in the direction of real and stable reconstruction of the Union. Congress has deliberately, for the information of as deliberately, for the information of foreign holders, and to correct the hope apparently entertained by some of them, declared that the government would in no event, ever assume and the foreign to the foreign that the second that the s would, in no event, ever assume a dol-lar of the indebtedness that was contracted in the attempt to overthrow its power. It is proper that the States, to which alone they can possibly look for payment, should declare themselves in payment, should declare themselves in an explicit and authentic manner.

The importance of a full and settled disposition of the question of the robel debt is second only to that of the sia-very question. So long as any hope remains of the payment of the rebel debt, so long as it has any value, be-yond the poor paper on which it is bad-ly printed, there will be a powerful dis-turbing element in our polities. Southturbing element in our politics. Southern men, holding large amounts of the certificates, speculators who have bought them, almost for nothing, backed by the money of English holders, will league with northern demagogues for legislation that will recognize, in part at least, the validity of the debt. They will demand it, as the condition of adequate taxation, for the interest of the national indebtedness; they will appeal to the people of the north to repudiate the national debt, they will charge that it is held by great capitalists and by incorporated institutions, that it is exempt from the burdens of State taxation that rest upon all other kinds of property, and that it is for the benefit of the rich and for the injury of the poor. By such appeals as will league with northern demagogue from such dangers. The revolted States should follow the example of Alabama; and until they do, they should not be deemed to have given satisfactory assurances of such loyal disposition, as fits them for a share in of Charleston, such as Geo. W. Sum-mers, Benjamin H. Smith, Dr. Patrick and others.

> THE Richmond Times, supposed to be, now that the Bulletis has been suppress-ed, the "conservative" paper par excel-lence, of that city, has quite a humorous article in relation to the resolutions of '96 and '90. Some person has warned it that its course seemed to be away from the doctrines of those old resolutions, and reminded the editors that it is not reverential thus to forget and ignore the old stock in trade of the Democratic re-reverential thus to forget and ignore the old stock in trade of the Democratic regime in Virginia. To all of which the editors respond thus:

"The prevalence of martial law in the late Southern Confederacy, and the untimely death of the doctrine of secession, during the late civil war, having rendered the temporary removal of the resolutions of '88-'90, to Tammany Hall indispensable for their safety, we have learned with infinite pleasure that they are receiving every altention which their age and dignity deserve. In better times, those famous trophies of Virginis statesmanship will be, we hope, brought back to the State which gave them birth, and restored, like the remains of President Monroe, to the keeping of those who have so long honored and revered them.

After carefully studying the condition and prespects of the southern States, we have arrived at the melancholy conclusion that there is nothing in the resolutions of '88-69 which meets the exigencies of our position. That any one should dere to say that they do not furnish a balm for every wound, sounds, we know, very much like high treason. Yet we fear the framers of those immortal declarations of States where mortal elearations of States the cold outside of the Union, without representation in Congress, and threatend with the punishment of a long period of territorial probation."

Hence if men, employers and employed, were wise in the light of their simple selfish interests, they would throw the whole weight of their influence against inflation. The country has had an experience from last spring and summer's collapse that ought to be worth something now.

For the benefit of such of our readers as have not lime to look into all the details of the proposed new loan, we would briefly inform them that it is to be $50,000,000 of five-twenty year bonds with 6 per cent interest ingold, payable in May and November of each year. The loan is made by authority of the act of March 3, 1865, and the bonds will be soupon bonds of the denominations of $5000 and $100, $500 and $1000, and registered bonds of the denominations of $5000 and $1000. A PHILADELPHIA dispatch made mention yesterday morning that Gen. Grant recently said that our govern-ment would soon force Maximilian to quit Mexico, it being less expensive to give the Mexican Liberals the aid they troops would be required, the regular army being sufficient for the purpose. army being sufficient for the purpose. Confirmation will be required for this story before much importance is attached to it. In this connection some of Mr. Seward's recently published diplomatic correspondence has additional interest. On the 27th of February, 1894, he instructed our late Minister at Paris, Mr. Dayton, in view of the expected arrival of Maximilian at Paris, on his way to Mexico, that if the latter appeared in Paris only in his character of a Prince of the house of Hapsburg, to be neither demonstrative nor reserved in his deportment toward him. If he an-peared in Paris only in his character of a Prince of the house of Hapsburg to be neither domonstrative nor reserved in his deportment toward him. If he appeared with any assumption of authority in regard to Mexico, Mr. Dayton was to enairely refrain from intercourse with him. If any remark or inquiry as to the Minister's conduct should ensue therefrom, Mr. Dayton was, if necessary, to say that his conduct was prescribed by instructions from Washington. The United States officials acknowledged revolutions only by direction of the President, upon full and mature consideration, and until such was obtained, no formal or informal communications with political agents or representatives of revolutionary movements were to be held. On the 20th of April, 1894, Mr. Seward again wrote to Mr. Dayton: "It is, of course, not impossible that new embarrassments for this Government may grow out of the Arch-duke's assumption of fauthority in Mexico. But we shall do all that prudence, justice and honor require to avert them. At the same time we shall not forego the assertion of any of our mational rights, If such precautions full to secure us against aggression, we shall then, I trust, be able to rise, without great effort, to the new duties which in that case will have devolved upon us. I remain now firm, as herefolore, in the opinion that the destinies of the American continent are not to be permanently for the controlled by any political arrangements that can be made in the capitals of Europe."
